Dear [REDACTED]

Official Information Act request – Consultation on official information legislative reform

Thank you for your email of 14 May 2019 requesting information under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA) as follows:

- the number of submissions received on the recent consultation on official information legislative reform
- the names of all submitters who did not object to their submissions being released
- the expected timeframes for release of submissions and a government response.

The Ministry of Justice ran the consultation process between 8 March and 3 May 2019. We asked people about their experience with the OIA, what they consider to be the key issues, and what reforms they think would make the biggest difference.

We received 285 written submissions via the Ministry's Consultation Hub and direct email. We also carried out eight interviews. Submissions came from a range of private individuals, professionals and organisations, including those who make OIA requests, prepare responses to requests, review decisions on requests, and/or have an interest in constitutional issues.

A complete list of the names of all submitters who did not object to their submissions being released and interviewees is attached.

We are currently analysing the submissions and aim to provide advice to the Minister of Justice toward the end of the year. Following this, we will make the written submissions available on the Ministry of Justice website.

We are not able to provide information about timeframes for the Minister's response.

If you are not satisfied with my response to your request, you have the right to complain to the Ombudsman under section 28(3) of the Act. The Ombudsman may be contacted by email at info@ombudsman.parliament.nz

Thank you for taking the time to write.

Yours sincerely

Caroline Greaney
General Manager, Civil and Constitutional Policy
